ACADEMIC REGALIA

Academic regalia date to the early days of the oldest universities. A statute of 1312 required that all doctors, licentiates and bachelors of the University of Coimbra, Italy, wear gowns. The shape and size of the American hood marks the college degree of the wearer. It is possible to recognize the college or university from which the degree was obtained by identifying the colors on the center of the hood. Gowns for master’s degree holders have elongated sleeves, while doctoral gowns have velvet striping on the sleeves and down the front.

Hoods from the National College of Natural Medicine are green and white for all degree programs: Doctor of Naturopathic Medicine, Master of Science in Oriental Medicine and Master of Acupuncture. Dual-degree recipients wear the hood of the doctoral degree and a gold cord in recognition of their master’s degrees.

4 NCNM Commencement 2010

BRIEF HISTORY OF NCNM

National College of Natural Medicine (NCNM) is the oldest programmatically accredited naturopathic medical school in North America. Drs. Charles Stone, W. Martin Bleything and Frank Spaulding—members of the profession from Oregon, Washington and British Columbia—planned the founding of the college. The NCNM Articles of Incorporation were executed in May 1956, in Portland, Oregon.

NCNM was originally founded as a college of naturopathic medicine, which derives from the healing wisdom of many cultures. Since its founding, NCNM has sought to preserve and convey the classical modalities of naturopathy and honor the principles that guide naturopathic care:

- First do no harm
- The healing power of nature
- Identify and treat the cause
- Heal the whole person
- Doctor as teacher
- Prevention is the best cure

In the fall of 1992, the college began plans for the development of a curriculum that would emphasize the holistic spirit of the classical teachings of Oriental medicine. In addition to a Doctor of Naturopathic Medicine (ND) degree program, a Master of Science in Oriental Medicine (MSOM) degree program was inaugurated in 1996, followed by a Master of Acupuncture (MAc) degree program in 2008.

The college is alma mater to more than 2000 alumni who practice in nearly every state and Canadian province, and in many foreign countries.

PROGRAM OVERVIEW: SCHOOL OF NATUROPATHIC MEDICINE

The program at the School of Naturopathic Medicine emphasizes a distinctive approach to health and healing—an approach that considers the whole person when treating specific conditions, one that seeks to diagnose and treat root causes whenever possible. Naturopathic medicine is heir to the vitalistic tradition of medicine in the Western world. This is evidenced by its emphasis in treating disease through the stimulation, enhancement and support of the inherent healing power of the body. Chosen methods of treatment respect this natural healing process.

PROGRAM OVERVIEW: SCHOOL OF CLASSICAL CHINESE MEDICINE

The programs of the School of Classical Chinese Medicine were created to honor the deep wisdom and holistic nature of the classic teachings of Oriental medicine. Scholar-practitioners rooted in this ancient medical tradition help students to understand how human beings can live in harmony with the cycles of nature, and teach them a powerful diagnostic and therapeutic system that makes it possible to treat all kinds of patients—even those with chronic and complicated conditions.

PRESENTERS (in order of appearance)

Marcus Miller, MD, ND, is one of the few physicians in the U.S. trained and board certified in both Western and naturopathic medicine. He graduated from Louisiana State University Medical School in 1982. He interned in Baton Rouge and completed his residency in Portland at Good Samaritan Hospital. After 13 years of practicing urgent care and internal medicine, he began his naturopathic education at NCNM, graduating in 2001 with academic and research honors. Dr. Miller teaches courses in geriatrics, pathology and endocrinology, and supervises student interns on clinical rotations at the NCNM Clinic.

Marnie Loomis, ND, is NCNM's director of Professional Formation. Dr. Loomis is responsible for helping expand placement opportunities for graduates and increasing the professional skills of students. Dr. Loomis earned her ND degree from NCNM in 2000 and practiced medicine for seven years in Portland. She has published articles about patient care and enjoys speaking on behalf of NCNM to audiences throughout the U.S.

Kimberly Windstar, MEd, ND, got her Master of Education degree before graduating from NCNM in 1991. She joined the NCNM faculty in 1996. After 12 years of private practice, she now sees patients at the NCNM Clinic while mentoring and educating student clinicians. An associate professor, she began co-teaching an advanced gynecology seminar series for physicians and medical students in 2000. In 2005, she developed a residency for graduates interested in women's health, advanced gynecology, female endocrinology and colposcopy. Dr. Windstar is writing about women's medicine for the Foundations of Naturopathic Medicine project.

Emaline D. Gray is a 2010 graduate of NCNM's Master of Science in Oriental Medicine program. She is a native of the great blue-grass state of Kentucky. She graduated cum laude with a Bachelor of Arts degree in Religious and Asian Studies in 2002 from Beloit College in Wisconsin after garnering numerous awards for her studies. She worked for Americorps at Habitat for Humanity prior to coming to NCNM in 2006. She will return to Frankfort, Kentucky, where she plans to open a Chinese medicine clinic.

George L. Gonzales is a 2010 graduate of NCNM's Doctorate of Naturopathic Medicine program. He hails from the foothills of the Sierra Nevadas and the Willamette Valley in Oregon. He graduated with a Bachelor of Art degree in Religion from Dartmouth College in 2001. Before entering NCNM in 2005, he taught high school, where he met his wife Angie, a nurse-midwife. They soon plan to open a comprehensive family practice and midwifery center. He is looking forward to spending time with their three beautiful children, Yeva, Greta and Guthrie, who are his greatest teachers.

David J. Schleich, PhD, has served as president of NCNM since 2007. He has a diverse career: business, publishing, health, and more than 30 years in education. Dr. Schleich was CEO and president of the accredited Canadian College of Naturopathic Medicine. Prior to that, he served as vice president academic at Ontario's Niagara College; held administrative and teaching positions at St. Lawrence College in Ontario, Swinburne University in Melbourne, Australia, and the University of Alberta, Canada. He has published extensively and lectures throughout the world. Dr. Schleich is married to Sussanna Czeranko, ND, a clinician and scholar; they have three grown children and a new grandson.

Loch S. Chandler, MSOM, ND, graduated from NCNM in 2001. After his residency, he began his practice at the Natural Choices Health Clinic in Portland. In 2004 he joined the Integrated Medicine Clinic at Providence Hospital in Portland, where he specializes in the treatment of cancer patients for nausea, fatigue and various side effects associated with surgery, radiation and chemotherapy. He has lectured extensively about integrative medicine throughout the country and has been featured on TV and radio, and in numerous articles. Dr. Chandler is currently pursuing a Master of Public Administration in Health Administration from Portland State University.

Lester Griffith, ND, is a 1975 graduate of NCNM. Prior to NCNM, Dr. Griffith earned a Master of Psychology degree and a Master of Herbology degree. He has been certified as a registered nurse, emergency room and medical technician, surgical technician and a midwife. In 1978, Dr. Griffith co-founded Bastyr University and served on the Bastyr board of directors for more than 20 years. In addition to more than 30 years of private practice, Dr. Griffith founded a number of natural products companies, including NouvelleHEALTH Inc.

Shirley Snow, ND, has practiced naturopathic medicine for more than 40 years. Legendary on the East Coast for her advocacy for naturopathic licensure, she was instrumental in achieving licensure in New Hampshire and continues lobbying in Florida. Dr. Snow received her Doctorate of Naturopathic Medicine in 1977. She is licensed as a homeopathic medical doctor, a nutritional consultant and is certified in acupuncture. She served on the boards of Pacifica College of Naturopathic Medicine in California, and Southwest College of Naturopathic Medicine in Arizona. An outspoken proponent of Nature Cure, Dr. Snow continues her traditional naturopathic practice in New Hampshire and Florida.

Xiaoli Chen, Doctor of Medicine (China), graduated from China's Chengdu University of Traditional Chinese Medicine after studying Chinese medicine and acupuncture for 11 years. She practiced medicine in China for over 25 years and served as an associate professor and vice-chief physician at Chengdu University. Dr. Chen joined NCNM in 2002, where she supervises students at the NCNM Clinic and teaches courses on the classical approach to treating patients with acupuncture and herbs. She says that her practice is a calling: "Using Chinese medicine to heal wounds, treat illness and prevent diseases is my holy mission. My intention is to always practice with a kind heart."

William Frazier, MAc, received his master's degree at the Academy for Five Element Acupuncture in Hallandale, Florida in 2001. He earned a Licentiate in Acupuncture at the Worsley Institute of Classical Acupuncture in Florida and an Advanced Licentiate at the College of Traditional Acupuncture in England in 1994. Mr. Frazier has been in private practice in Portland for more than 15 years and served as vice president of the Oregon Acupuncture Association in 1998. He collaborated with Dr. Heiner Fruehauf in a series of expeditions to the mountain ranges of China and Tibet to study with Wang Qingyu, the lineage-holder of the ancient Jinjing School of Qigong. He teaches classes in qigong, cosmography and the Twelve Officials' style of acupuncture in Aurora, Oregon. He is also an accomplished astrologer with a focus on pre-modern Western astrology.

Judy Peabody, ND, graduated from NCNM in 1988, joined the faculty in 1995 and is a supervising physician at the NCNM Clinic. Dr. Peabody has been a staunch advocate of the naturopathic profession, giving public and professional lectures throughout the greater Portland area, and serving on the State of Oregon's Rural Health Coordinating Council for more than 20 years. Dr. Peabody has a private practice in Beaverton.

Dick Thom, DDS, ND, graduated from the University of Toronto with a Doctorate of Dental Surgery degree and from the Ontario College of Naturopathic Medicine, where he received his first Doctorate of Naturopathic Medicine degree. He earned a second naturopathic degree from NCNM in 1989. Dr. Thom teaches clinical and physical diagnosis, gastroenterology, x-ray practicum and neurology. He also gives seminars on successful business management to both doctors and students. He lectures extensively and has written many articles dealing with energy medicines and nutrition. He has also written two books, Coping with Food Intolerances and Unda Numbers: An Energetic Journey to Homeostasis and Wellness. He has a private practice in Portland.

Laurie Regan, PhD, ND, is dean of NCNM's School of Classical Chinese Medicine, and teaches qigong. She received a Doctorate in Neurobiology from Harvard University in 1991 and an ND degree from NCNM in 1997. Her interest in the healthy integration of body, mind and spirit led to training in homeopathy at the Hahnemann College of Homeopathy, as well as qigong in China under the mentorship of Professor Wang Qingyu, lineage-holder of the Jinjing School of Qigong. Her medical practice is in Corbett.

Margot Longenecker, ND, graduated from the University of North Carolina and worked in the film industry in New York City for ten years before graduating in 1998 from NCNM. After completing a two-year residency, Dr. Longenecker taught in Connecticut at the University of Bridgeport College of Naturopathic Medicine; she was also co-director of the Integrative Medicine Center at Griffin Hospital in Derby. She had a practice in the New Haven area for nearly a decade before joining NCNM this year as associate dean of naturopathic medicine. Dr. Longenecker is a former board member of the American Association of Naturopathic Physicians.

Nancy Wastcoat Garbett, MEd, joined NCNM's board in 2003, serving as board chair since 2006. For more than 20 years, Ms. Garbett has worked with corporations in designing and implementing effective change processes for organizational success. She is president of Corporate Shaman, Inc., a consulting firm that helps companies achieve higher levels of productivity and profitability through a curriculum based on the philosophy of ancient healing traditions and quantum theory. Ms.

Garbett received a Master of Education degree from Brigham Young University, completed a program in clinical pastoral education in 1986 and was certified as a master practitioner in neurolinguistic programming.

Brandt Stickley, MSTCM, joined the faculty of NCNM's School of Classical Chinese Medicine in 2009. A graduate of Cornell University and the American College of Traditional Chinese Medicine, he completed his internship in Hangzhou, China. He studied contemporary Chinese pulse diagnosis with Leon Hammer, MD, and received his national certification as a Diplomate in Acupuncture in 2001. Prior to NCNM, Mr. Stickley was a professor at Florida College of Integrative Medicine and at Dragon Rises College of Oriental Medicine. He is a licensed acupuncturist, herbalist and author.

Rihui Long, Master of Medicine (China), has more than 30 years of clinical experience. The chief medical officer for the classical Chinese medicine program at the NCNM Clinic, he earned his degree at China's Chengdu University of Traditional Chinese Medicine. Professor Long previously taught at Chengdu University and the Canadian College for Chinese Studies. An expert in treating digestive disorders, he is skilled in the Zang-fu system of diagnosis and is an authority on the classic text of internal medicine, Neijing, the seminal medical text of ancient China. Professor Long has published, edited and translated for professional journals and books.

Brenda Morrison, MA, has worked in academia since 1990, joining NCNM in 2001 to assist the president. Since June 2004, she has been an admissions counselor and liaison to the School of Classical Chinese Medicine, helping students to bring their educational goals to fruition. From first inquiry to graduation and beyond, she is honored to participate in the development of health care practitioners and physicians who compassionately dedicate themselves to assist their patients toward balanced health.

CLASSICAL CHINESE MEDICINE OATH

I promise to follow the way of the Great Physician.
I will strive to live in harmony with nature,
and teach my patients to do the same.

I will stay calm and completely committed when treating disease.
I will not give way to personal wishes and desires,
but above all else hold and nurture a deep feeling of compassion.
I will be devoted to the task of saving the sacred spark of life in every creature that still carries it.

I will strive to maintain a clear mind
and be willing to hold myself to the highest standards.
It will be my duty to diagnose sufferings and treat disease.
I will not be boastful about my skills
and not driven by the greed for material things.
Above all, I will keep an open heart.
As I move on the right path
I will receive great happiness as a reward without asking for anything in return.

-Adapted from The Great Physician by Sun Simiao (581-682)

NATUROPATHIC PHYSICIAN’S OATH

I dedicate myself to the service of humanity as a practitioner of the art and science of Naturopathic medicine.

I will honor my teachers and all who have preserved and developed this knowledge and dedicate myself to supporting the growth and evolution of Naturopathic medicine.

I will endeavor to continually improve my abilities as a healer through study, reflection, and genuine concern for humanity.
I will impart knowledge of the advanced healing arts to dedicated colleagues and students.

Through precept, lecture, and example, I will assist and encourage others to strengthen their health, reduce risks for disease, and preserve the health of our planet for ourselves, our families, and future generations.

According to my best ability and judgment, I will use methods of treatment which follow the principles of Naturopathic medicine:

First of all, to do no harm.
To act in cooperation with the Healing Power of Nature.
To address the fundamental causes of disease.
To heal the whole person through individualized treatment.
To teach the principles of healthy living and preventive medicine.

I will conduct my life and the practice of Naturopathic health care with vigilance, integrity, and freedom from prejudice.
I will abstain from voluntary acts of injustice and corruption.
I will keep confidential whatever I am privileged to witness, whether professionally or privately, that should not be divulged.

With my whole heart, before this gathering of witnesses,
as a Doctor of Naturopathic Medicine,
I pledge to remain true to this oath.

-Adopted by the American Association of Naturopathic Physicians (AANP) in 1992.
